

ABSTRACT

The present invention provides an ion engine, more particularly an ion engine using the inconsumable specialty of a super conductor to make the electromagnetic impulse generated thereby produce continuous and ceaseless energy; mainly, two 5 gassed sides of a dynamo are disposed with super conductors; since the said super conductors have inconsumable specialty, the released high voltage therefrom influences the gas inside the dynamo to ionize and further generate continuous and endless electric current.